Some parties are asking signatures to the petition to the Government against giving the park to the C. P. R. This is a move to prevent the workshops coming to Calgary and should be discouraged by every citizen.

Latest from the Burchell Murder Case.

(Special to The Herald.)

Woodstock, Ont., Sept. 24.-At the Burchell trial yesterday a brother of the deceased, now deceased, testified the character of the deceased. Identified the outfit found on him, some of which was found on Burchell when arrested. No thing was made by the cross examination either of Bennett or Kelly. Joseph and George Edmonds described finding the body and the cigar case bearing his name. Justice of the 2nd County told of all the identification marks being taken from the clothing. Constable Watson testified to Burchell's habit of smoking. Burchell after being examined. Under-taker Schwartz said Burchell viewed the dead body of Bennett before burial. Counsel for the defence tried to introduce a statement by Burchell's friend, a statement that Burchell displayed emotion when viewing Bennett's remains. This failure produced a bad effect for the prisoner. The medical evidence will be taken to-day.

Lord Minto on the McKinley Bill.

(Special to The Herald.)

Ottawa, Sept. 24.-In the address at the formal opening of the Canada Central fair yesterday Lord Minto took occasion to refer to the McKinley bill, stating that while it is being put in operation it would "gravely affect the agricultural community" in Canada. He was very much mistaken in the people of Canada if they would not go to work and seek out new avenues for their commerce. Although he did not often refer to political speeches still he often referred to what was said by the Finance Minister on a recent occasion in regard to this bill.

Winnipeg, Sept. 24.-General Sir Wylie left yesterday to inspect the Regina and Long Lake railway, enroute to its being taken over by the C. P. R.

Wiman Working in Washington.

(Special to The Herald.)

Washington, Sept. 24.-The tariff conference committee yesterday gave an interview to Krastus Wiman in relation to Canadian reciprocity. The conclusion was that nothing should be attempted this season but that in the event of a dissolution of the Canadian Parliament the Government should not hesitate to have the earliest consideration of the re-assembly of Congress in December. This Wiman said, would prove satisfactory to the leaders of the Liberal party in Canada.

No one should miss this chance of getting a sufficient supply of groceries for the fall and winter. Remember the place, Phillips' old stand for goods at half price.

OUR PARLIAMENTARY REPRESENTATIVES MOVING.

In consequence of the unsatisfactory character of the arrangements for forwarding the British delegates to Alberta Mr. Davis M. P. and Senator Loughood, responding to the request of our citizens, have promptly telegraphed the Minister of Agriculture, stating the advisability of the Department itself directing the movements of the delegates, instead of leaving the matter solely in the hands of a Winnipeg man, and of arranging a programme which will bring the delegates to Calgary by Oct. 8 when the Calgary District Agricultural Society's annual fair will open. They have represented to the Minister the importance of the delegates meeting the large body of farmers who will be in Calgary at that time, from whom the delegates can receive without waste of time all necessary information in regard to the farm lands of the district; and the farm products and cattle will be here to speak for themselves. We hope the Minister will respond favorably to this influential request. He will certainly be representing the interests of Alberta by doing so.

WHAT CANADA SHOULD DO.

It is to be hoped the Government will deal boldly with the question of our commercial relations with Great Britain and the United States. These are the only two nations with which we have a large trade. One of these nations has done us more evils products from. The other closes her territory to our products by a prohibitory tariff. Yet we allow the entry of the products of the two nations into Canada on precisely the same footing. It was never a part of the British Empire would would this be fair treatment? Being an important portion of the Empire, is not such treatment manifestly unfair, unjust, unparliamentary? Without the right to action which recent Washington legislation has provided, the time had already arrived for us to discriminate in our tariff legislation as between the two countries. Now that our products are absolutely excluded from United States soil, we are surely justified in a vigorous handling of our jeopardized commercial interests. We have a right to discriminate in our tariff when our interests are so manifestly injured thereby; we have a special right to discriminate in favor of our own nationality and our fellow subjects in Great Britain, Australia and the Greek Colonies. A slight change in the tariff would do this. We have the British and United States manufactures. Let the tariff be increased five per cent. on imports from the United States. This is all that is necessary to give British and colonial products the advantage in our markets, and we lose not a dollar in doing it. If we import the less from the United States we will support the more from our fellow countrymen within the Empire; we will create a greater ocean traffic for our shipping, and we shall cheapen freight for our exports to Britain, which will steadily increase. We cannot bring British manufactures into the country here, since we have our own manufacturers to protect and moreover, we need the customs revenue we are now collecting, but where the United States and Great Britain offer us the same articles we can so readily import from them, we have the trade into British channels, and the sooner we do it the better since the United States refuse absolutely to buy anything we have to sell.
